Community Resources

Trainings, Presentation & Other Resources

HANC and DAIDS have free resources for community members that cover various topics. The breadth of resources are designed to increase and strengthen research literacy in the community, including understanding clinical research, research ethics, and the role of community advisory boards, and to facilitate the inclusion of key populations in HIV research .

- Basic Science Literacy Training Module (link)
- Research Ethics and Informed Consent (link)
- Understanding Science Videos (link)
- Webinar Library (link)
- Participant Bill of Rights (link)
- NIAID HIV Language Guide (link)
- Recommendations for Community Engagement in HIV/AIDS Research (English, Portuguese, Spanish)

Note: All the community resources on the DAIDS Learning Portal are available to the public, but an account is required to access the e-learning modules. If you do not already have an account, you can request one by clicking the “log in” button on the right hand corner of the DAIDS Learning Portal website; then select “create a new account” and follow the prompts. You can use site ID, or if you are not affiliated with a NIAID-funded site, you can use 99999 as your site ID, to request an account. All of the Resources available on the DAIDS Learning Portal can be found (here), including those for Community Engagement and Transgender Training.
